KOALA-T JANUARY Highlights

REINFORCING FUN

Suhey R:

As a BT, quality is by providing and communicating with my BCBA. Making sure targets are run correctly and asking questions. Also, being a great listener with our clients' caregivers and where or what they need help with and being empathetic.

Tracy P:

Supporting quality means finding ways to keep things fresh. If you are in direct care, running the same facts over and over can lead to automatic responses. Find new resources to work with your patient. Seeing your coworker struggling or overwhelmed and jumping in to help. Seeing things around the center needing to be fixed or cleaned up instead of walking past them. Quality is an entire day of work and not just a job.

Jorge R:

Demonstrating quality work for me involves leading by example, ensuring ethical and evidence-based practices, providing consistent support and supervision across not only my team members but any colleague I can facilitate support with. In addition to that, fostering professional development, and maintaining open communication to promote collaboration and client success.

🐾 Wrapping Up
Koala-T Month
at ABS Kids! 🐾

As January comes to a close, we want to thank everyone for making our 2nd Annual Koala-T Month such a huge success!

This month, we celebrated quality as one of ABS Kids' core values, and your enthusiasm, creativity, and participation brought it to life in truly amazing ways.

Melodie B:

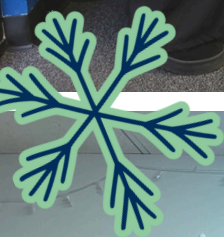

I contribute to our shared value of quality by giving my clients my all. When I give these kids my full attention and energy while working with them, it will help them succeed. Our clients are able to tell when we want to be there and are passionate about the services we provide. I am passionate about providing quality service to our kids because I love to watch them grow and learn and I want the best for their future.

We're excited to welcome our new team members in California, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Utah

A big wow moment for me was seeing my client choose to calmly ask, "please turn off phone?" instead of reacting with aggression a clear sign of their growing ability to manage frustration and communicate their needs in a positive way!
